SHEILA GORMAN - A MYTHICAL ARMY

30th January - 20th February

Alternative Entertainments presents an exhibition by Sheila Gorman.

Military uniforms were designed to make an army appear ordered, disciplined, powerful and vigorous and so dispirit and intimidate their enemy. Uniforms were often more decorative than protective. As weapons progressed from bow and arrows to guns and missiles soldiers became increasingly vulnerable.

This impressive and thought provoking collection of drawings and paintings explores the artist's long time study of military apparel.

ARThritis II

1st - 13th March

ARThritis II is the culmination of six months work by artists at the Adelaide and Meath Hospital, incorporating the National Children's Hospital, Dublin. The exhibition celebrates the achievements of five artists who are patients in the Rheumatology Department of the hospital.
